TEMPE.

The present faculty of the Tempe Normal School of Arizona has been selected, with the exception of Miss Katherine Adams, director of the training department. Miss Adams was not an applicant, in fact, she sent in her resignation some time ago. She will not teach next year, but will finish a course for another degree at Stanford and visit friends in the east. Miss Adams deserves the year's rest, as she has done an immense lot of good work at the Normal during the past two years, which have been years of difficult reorganizing and founding of the new training school, which she now has in a most excellent condition and furnished with all the modern equipment. Her successor has not been chosen. The rest of the faculty have received an advance in salary, none less than 10 per cent. The students are all happy to know that a revolution of these teachers has been made by the board, as every member in endeavor to all the students perfect harmony in work and feeling. Excellent work is being done and many new students have written to the principal signifying their intention to attend the Normal next year.

James O. McVey arrived in Tempe, Wednesday, to visit his mother, Mrs. McVey, on Mill avenue and Seventh street. He served in the thirty-fifth regiment in the Philippines.

Harry Hendrix is doing some work in the real estate office of W. A. Bolton.

The Blinn Lumber company yesterday received a carload of lumber for their yards.

Miss Kemper arrived a few days ago to visit her sister, Miss Jennie Kemper, who is at present quite ill.

The graduating exercises at the public school for the year will be held Friday evening, May 14th.

A fine line of the improved archery and crokinole boards have just been received by the Tempe Hardware & Supply company.

There was a disturbance in H. G. Frisch's saloon, last night, which resulted in an encounter between H. G. Frisch, the proprietor, and Chet Cummins and Charley Mullen. Accounts of the starting of the trouble vary, but it seems that there had been bad blood between the men for some time. Frisch tells the probable story that Cummins and Mullen came down to his place of business with the sole intention of starting a fight, while they claim that Frisch slapped Cummins without any provocation. At any rate, Cummins knocked Frisch down and started beating him. No one interfered, although the saloon was full of men, until Mrs. Frisch came out of the lunch room to the assistance of her husband. Frisch then started to get his gun, and Mullen and Cummins left. Warrants were sworn out for their arrest and they were taken into custody. Cummins expressed his desire to plead guilty, but was silenced by Mullen, who entered a plea of not guilty. Cummins later followed suit.

W. A. Moore, under-sheriff of Maricopa county, was in Tempe, yesterday, visiting relatives and old friends. Bill looks fat and happy.

A VERY REMARKABLE REMEDY.

"It is with a good deal of pleasure and satisfaction that I recommend Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Druggist A. W. Sawtelle of Hartford, Conn. "A lady customer, seeing the remedy offered for sale on my show case, said to me: 'I really believe that medicine saved my life the past summer while at the shore,' and she became so enthusiastic over its merits that I at once made up my mind to recommend it in the future. Recently a gentleman came into my store so overcome with colic pains that he sank at once to the floor. I gave him a dose of this remedy, which helped him. I repeated the dose, and in fifteen minutes he left my store, smilingly informing me that he felt as well as ever." Sold by all druggists.

HE KEPT HIS VOW

Pittston—There is no happier bride anywhere today than Mrs. John Hoy, who was formerly the pretty Katie McNulty of Brantford. Moreover, John Hoy's parents, who have always lived in poverty, now own as fine a house as there is in the city.

All this is the result of a young man's extravagant vow, doggedly fulfilled.

When John Hoy decided to go west and seek his fortune eighteen years ago, he was deeply in love with Katie McNulty. So were many others, for she was the belle of the place. However, she was also in love with John, and promised to wait until he should come back loaded with ready money, ready to claim her. This he vowed he would not return until he could offer her a big bank account as well as his heart, and give his parents a handsome home.

So he started for the mines, and it was a long and dreary struggle. Years rolled by while Katie waited and John toiled, but wealth kept well out of his reach. Still he stuck to the gold and copper fields of Montana. Eighteen years passed. Then a short time ago he "struck it rich" in Butte City. The long withheld fortune came with a rush. He was rich, very rich.

Back to Pittston he hurried to fulfill his vow. The house was bought—a very fine one—and presented to the old parents. The girl was waiting for him. She had also kept her word through all those discouraging years.

The wedding occurred today. It was a brilliant affair. The couple will make a European trip before returning from their wedding trip—New York World.

Amusements

A royal revel with Old Mumus is promised the theater goers of this city when the bright and breezy play of "The Huxley," which has created a furore wherever seen, will appear here. As a mirth provoker, "The Huxley" is pronounced an enormous success. From the rise of the curtain until the final fall of the same the interest never flags, the humor never loses its piquant flavor, and the entire piece goes rippling merrily on to an uproariously funny termination. Incidental to the action of the play a perfect plethora of catchy specialties are introduced. Summer prices will prevail during this engagement for Saturday, May 11. Seats on sale Friday.

HOW MARCONI MET HIS FIANCEE.

The heroine of an Ocean Trip Because She Sailed Without Luggage.

The meeting of Inventor Marconi and the Indianapolis girl, Miss Josephine Holman, to whom his engagement has just been announced, reads like a romance. Signor Marconi had booked his passage to Liverpool on a boat sailing in November, 1899. Suddenly, in November, 1899, Tuesday night, he took a train to sail on the steamship

St. Paul, going Wednesday. He threw his instruments together and with his suitcase went on board the St. Paul the next morning. Miss Holman went down to the boat to say good-bye to some friends going to England. When she reached there she found they had telegraphed her to come prepared to go with them, but the messages had miscarried. They immediately persuaded her to remain on board and spend a month with an intimate friend, Mrs.

Springman, of Liverpool, formerly Miss Alice Withers of Bryn Mawr. Her trunk was promised to follow her on the next steamer and she remained on board. She was a good deal of a heroine on the trip, being known as "the young lady who sailed without her luggage." Fate evidently threw the two together. They met the third day out, and the acquaintance ripened into a deeper attachment.

An interesting feature of the trip was the publishing of the Transatlantic

Times on board for the benefit of the seamen's fund. This very little paper, the size of a bill of fare, was published on board the St. Paul, at sea, on the way to England, November 15, 1899, the sixth day out. Marconi and his staff used the same apparatus used in reporting the yacht races and received telegram messages from their station at the Needles. War messages from South Africa and news from London and Paris were received on board. This is probably the first instance of a newspaper being published at sea and messages received by wireless telegraphy and printed on a ship going twenty knots an hour. The Needles were ninety-seven miles distant when the messages were sent. The staff of that little paper was: W. W. Bradford, editor-in-chief; T. Bowden, assistant editor; Miss Josephine Holman, treasurer; H. H. McClure, managing editor.

The acquaintance, begun so pleasantly on shipboard, was continued in London, where Miss Holman met Marconi's mother and was entertained by the mother and son. In June Signor Marconi came to America and was the guest of Mrs. Holman and daughter at their summer home in the Catskills, "The Rectory," Cragmoor, Ulster county, New York. He expected to return in the autumn, but his health prevented, and later important experiments and business detained him. He arrived in New York a month ago, and the young people evaded the reporters' questions by asserting that his trip had only business significance.—Indianapolis News.

GOOD ADVICE.

The most miserable beings in the world are those suffering from Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint. More than seventy-five per cent of the people in the United States are afflicted with these two diseases and their effects; such as Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Constipation, Palpitation of the Heart, Heartburn, Waterbrash, Gnaing and Burning Pains at the Pit of the Stomach, Yellow Skin, Coated Tongue and Disagreeable Taste in the Mouth. Coming up of Food after Eating Low Spices, etc. Go to your Druggist and get a bottle of August Flower for 75 cents. Two doses will relieve you. Try it. A SIMILE.

"And you are sure you never really loved any one before?" said she, soulfully.

"Well," answered the conscientious young man who tried to be accurate, "of course that may be only an impression of mine. It is, I have an idea, with love as it is with the climate. We have hot waves every year, but we invariably labor under the belief that the one on hand is about the only genuine, out and out spell of summer weather we ever experienced."

A NEW SANDWICH MAN.

Through the Broadway crowd recently wandered a pale, shabbily dressed man, with a board about two feet square hung about his neck by a cord. On the board was a crudely painted sign with the legend: "I want work." Every few feet people spoke to him, and to them all he told the same old story—a starving wife and children and no employment since last fall. "I've tried all other ways of getting work," he said to one passerby, "perhaps this may help me." A hundred or more persons stopped him, but no one offered to help him to a place.—N. Y. Lett.
